

The Source for Boating Safety Partnerships

U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary

Welcome to the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary Boating Department's Recreational Boating Safety Partnership Center!

New Recreational Boating Safety Website

auxbdeptwiki.cgaux.org

The National Auxiliary Boating Department has launched a new website called "AuxBDeptWiki". The site is based on wiki software that allows users to contribute their ideas for promoting Recreational Boating Safety without being experts in building web-pages.

Sponsored by the National Boating Department, the Wiki site will provide support for the Auxiliary's RBS efforts in local communities and our partnerships with other organizations like the Boy Scouts of America and States Liaisons.

Supported by the collaborative efforts of the Boating, Education, Vessel Examination and Public Affairs Departments the website will give Auxiliarists, Flotillas, and Divisions easy access to proven ideas that promote RBS at all levels of the organization.

The Wiki site allows Auxiliarists to share their experiences, knowledge, and ideas without the need of technical expertise to write and maintain a website. Not only will this promote effective RBS efforts, it will also give Auxiliarists a feeling of ownership of the Auxiliary's RBS program.

The AuxBWiki site can be found at auxbdeptwiki.cgaux.org. The site also includes simple instructions on how to contribute YOUR ideas! A link can also be found on the Boating Department's website www.auxbdept.org.

Please contact Bruce Johnson DC-Bd at bjoh@seascout.org if you have any questions or would like to get involved.
